THE OLD KELLEY TAVERN, St. Joseph, Ill. Erected 1840. Kept by Joseph Thornton Kelley. Famed throughout Champaign County and Eastern Illinois for its hospitality. Abraham Lincoln, Judge David Davis and many other notables stayed here in the 1850's as they rode around the [illegible] Judicial Circuit. The building was razed in 1914, and today only the old well remains as a reminder of Old St. Joseph at the crossing of the Salt Fork by the Old State Road.

LOST HORIZONS

There is a magic in this wood,
Where long ago an Indian stood
Dreamily watching an Indian maid
Craftily hiding himself in shade
Of some great spreading forest tree.

Child of earth, his spirit soared afar;
Sun was his God, he worshipped moon and star.
The wild folk of the wood his brothers,
One, the deer, he loved above all others.
He was content, his life was good.

His paths were peaceful, full his days
Of teaching sons good Indian ways.
Then white men came his tribe to ravage;
He fought against them, mad, and savage.
He was but beast--free man no more.

There is a magic in this wood,
Where long ago an Indian stood,
Still hidden craftily in the shade,
Watching the havoc white man made
In hills and woods no longer home.

When Champaign County was established out of Vermilion County in 1833, it was very sparsely settled, as there were only some 500 souls within its borders. By 1835 there were 1250 settlers; by 1850 the number had grown to 2650 inhabitants. Settlers from New England, New York, the Carolinas, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky, all flocked into the Illinois country, bringing their treasures by prairie schooner, on foot, on pack saddles, and flat boats down the Ohio River. The largest percentage of early settlers came from these states, particularly Ohio--comparatively few were born in this state of Illinois. I once asked a sprightly 72 year old soul where she got the huge tomahawk, in use as a humble door stop. "Well, when we moved here by wagon from Ohio, papa said we should bring it along as it would be handy if he had to use it." Of such stern stuff was the American pioneer made! The first Old Settlers' meeting held in the County was in 1870. Eligibility to membership was confined to those who were twenty years old in 1840, and lived in the County at that time. There were but 45 old settlers who qualified.

This directory is not perfect nor complete--it could not be in the very nature of things; but it is a more or less comprehensive record of early settlers, the result of original research extending over the past seven years. Its object is to make available to historians and genealogists a register of some 3500 early settlers, information for which has been culled from many different sources. Among authorities consulted were five Champaign Co. histories, in which I discovered many discrepancies, especially in birth, marriage, and death dates. When disparities were found, I listed all the dates given.

I learned much about early graveyards by tramping over them in search of precious tombstone inscriptions. Some of these burial places are easily accessible from highway and country lane, and are kept in good condition. Others, abandoned to the elements on windy hillsides, are overgrown with grass and weeds knee-high. They present a pitifully-forlorn appearance with their drooping stones too dejected to stand alone any longer. I am particularly indebted to Mr. August (Gus) Sperling, County Surveyor, for his very comprehensive survey recently made of the 139 cemeteries of the County. This survey has been invaluable in locating the burial places of early settlers.

This work is statistical rather than historical. Facts are presented at some length about various prominent pioneers; but in the main it was difficult enough to secure wives' names alone, to say nothing of those of the children. The general plan of the directory follows: (1) name of settler;

(2) his occupation; (3) date and place of birth; (4) about when found in County; (5) family items, etc. The most uncertain date of all is the one on the extreme right side of the page, indicating when and where he was located in the County, because he may have settled here before the time indicated. However, I have not found him earlier than the date given.

My first two volumes of "Early Settlers' Records" were simply marriage records and Court proceedings copied from the very oldest record books at the County Court House. The administrations of estates, bills of sale, and law suits, all written in painfully-quaint,mis-spelled long hand made such fascinating reading that I was inspired to initiate a systematic search for the histories of those settlers whose names had thus become more or less familiar to me. Little by little, although this County is not rich, historically speaking, I collected priceless information about the three early settlements at (1) Old Homer,(2) Urbana in the Big Grove, and (3) Newcom's Ford over on the Sangamon River;the old Fort Clark Road and the Indian trails through those settlements, which led across the County toward the northwest and on to Fort Creve Coeur , the Peoria of today. I then made my own map of early Champaign County, and fitted into it gradually, a pattern of settlers on various sections, cemeteries, churches, schools, groves, streams, towns., etc.

An entire volume might be devoted to the Kickapoo and Pottawatomie Indian tribes who were found in large numbers when the very earliest settlers arrived here. Many of their burying grounds have been identified by archaeologists. The site of the present town of St. Joseph, east of Urbana, was such a "bury hole", and many mounds are still visible there. Old Shemauger (see his name), a Pottawatomie chief, claimed to have been born in 1775 under a wild cherry tree in what is now the main business section of Urbana.

Interviews with pioneers all over the County proved to be the brightest spots along the way in the preparation of this material. Delightful hours were spent in homes where I patiently revived memories of other days when life was young and sweet. There was the 86 year-old Mr. Moses Argo, of St. Joseph, a very courtly gentleman, who, ever so slowly, recalled Abraham Lincoln astride his horse, as he rode through the Eighth Judicial district on his law circuit. Looking out the window where the fading winter's sun gave his face a ruddy glow, he brought back to his mind the homely features, the tall silk hat with bandanna stuffed into its crown--"yes, I mind that he wore a long,--a long, --Prince--Prince--Albert coat,--and he tarried at--at the old Kelley--tavern--about four miles--south of here--near our farm." This was Dec., 1937. Mr. Argo d. in 1940. M.R.B.

See p. 6

Whatever of worth is found within the pages of this book belongs largely to those whose lives are nearly done, whose failing memories have, with great difficulty, spanned the years to resurrect priceless bits of history. Their recollections of early days amid dangers and privations; their heroic struggles with lurking Indians, miasmic fevers, and snake-infested swamps; their herculean efforts to carve out a new civilization in the Illinois country--surely we can never repay the debt we owe to men and women of indomitable will and unflagging courage, who transformed wilderness and forest trail into the beautiful Champaign County of today.

The following verses were chosen from the very fine "History of Champaign County", by the late Judge J. O. Cunningham, one of her first citizens. He may have been the author of them.

Who'll press for gold this crowded street,
A hundred years to come?
Who'll tread yon church with willing feet,
A hundred years to come?

Pale, trembling age, and fiery youth,
And childhood with its brow of truth;
The rich and poor, on land and sea--
Where will the mighty millions be,
A hundred years to come?

We all within our graves shall sleep,
A hundred years to come;
No living soul for us will weep,
A hundred years to come.

But other men our land will till,
And other words will sing, as gay;
And bright the sunshine as today,
A hundred years to come.

I made this map for my own use in locating roads, trails, the 3 early settlements, schools, churches, grave yards. The dots represent where settlers located.

BRADSHAW, Rev. ARTHUR. M.E. preacher. Ohio. Urbana. 1833.
"Built the first M.E. church in the Co., at Urbana, and was also its minister. Bought the lot from the Co. for $2.50, and was later sued for the money. Three years passed, and it was still unfinished, 1853.
The women of the church whitewashed it on the outside, using salt in the mixture. This attracted loose cattle, always roaming the streets, always hungry for the salt which was always scarce. So they proceeded to lick the salt off the bldg. as high up as they could reach. When services were in progress they made so much noise that small boys were sent out to whip them off.
Rev. A.B. rode a long circuit which required three weeks to cover, visiting 12 meeting houses in the Co."

Buseys Swung County Seat to Urbana in 1833

Chance tempered with a bit of manipulation by early settler Isaac Busey caused Urbana to be chosen as county seat, according to City Attorney Olin L. Browder who Tuesday noon told Urbana Rotary club members about Urbana's history.

William Compton, pioneer who came here in 1822, was Urbana's first resident. He constructed a cabin along the Boneyard directly behind the present office of the Evening Courier, Browder related, and it was in this cabin that 11 years later the location of the county seat was decided.

Settlers followed Compton into the region, and, as was customary, located around the rivers and streams. About 1829 Col. Matthew Busey moved here from Shelby county, Ky., and shortly afterward William T. Webber, also from Shelbly county, settled at about the present site of the Big Four shops.

Rival Site

Isaac Busey arrived at about the same time that Webber did, and purchased Compton's cabin. He and Matthew and the Webber family formed the core of the community, and when in 1833 an act was passed by the state legislature proclaiming the division of Vermilion and Champaign counties and naming the southern portion of the existing settlements Urbana, Isaac was appointed a commissioner to select the county seat.

He and the other commissioners started out on June 20, 1833 to choose the location into which they would drive the stake which would indicate the site, and by night fall they had about decided upon the property of Philip Stanford on what is now route No. 45. The property was close to settlements of the early Brownfields, Reinharts and Lichts, Browder said, and competition against the southern area where the Buseys, Webbers and Smiths lived was extremely keen.

Webber First Clerk

"Isaac Busey told them that they ought to wait until morning to drive the stake, and invited them back to his house for the night. Early the next morning the commissioners went out to set up the stake, but they didn't go back to Stanford's place, they drove it in the land where the present courthouse stands. I don't know what happened that night," Browder commented, "But whatever it was it was effective."

The first county clerk elected was T. R. Webber, and the first court was held in a building owned by Isaac Alexander and situated where the First National bank building stands. Matthew Busey was made foreman of the first grand jury which met in 1936 and their initial indictment was brought where the First National bank building stands. Matthew Busey was made foreman of the first grand jury which met in 1936 and their initial indictment was brought against John Busey.

"Yes, it was a Busey, and what do you think he was indicted for? For disturbing the peace!," Browder declared. "But a bit later the indictment was quashed and he was declared innocent and the blot on the Busey name was rubbed out."

Lincoln Practised Here

Urbana's first courthouse was a small wooden building about 27 feet by 25 feet and was erected on about the spot that is now occupied by the county jail. Only two or three court terms were held there, and the next one or two were conducted in Isaac Busey's cabin. From 1841 to 1846 a courthouse 20 feet by 40 feet was located on the present courthouse site, and it was followed in 1846 by a brick structure, the predecessor of the present building and the famous courthouse in which Lincoln practised while riding the circuit.

"The courthouse was the main place of interest in those times," Browder said, "and when court was in session the place was packed with people who came to join in the fun and enjoy the gala holiday. With Judge Davis on the bench and Lincoln at the bar it was an entertaining combination."

Judge Davis presided in the Urbana courthouse from 1840 to 1861, leaving the bench to take his place in the Supreme Court in April 1861, when Civil War broke out.

"During Judge Davis' last court session, it is interesting to note that the young lawyer who was defending the case, a murder trial —the second in the county—was our own Joe Cannon, who later became speaker of the House of Representatives. Just two months before that Lincoln had assumed the presidency of the United States."

Old Urbana Homes

Prof. Karl B. Lohmann, of the U. of I. department of landscape architecture, who has just completed a study of more than 100 historic Urbana homes and homesites, considers these five houses among the most interesting still standing. This house at 308 East Main street, was the home of Archa Campbell, Urbana's first mayor, who came to the city in 1842.

Kept a "variety" store--sold dry goods,groceries, and whiskey in great quantities. Did a thriving business in quinine and liver pills. Made coffins by the wholesale and sold them for miles in all directions, at $5 each. Paid $15 for a license to peddle and sell goods,and took Sam. Grovendyke as partner. This firm figured more frequently in the early records in administration of estates, than any other firm in the entire County. The firm claims against estates, poorly written, and miserably spelled,form extremely fascinating reading in the earliest Record books of the County. M.D.C. made the first lumber wagon in the Co.,and used it on a few of his 12000 acres of land which he owned near Homer.
The fam. moved from N.Y. to Fayette Co.,Ohio; thence to Ill. in 1836. M.D.C. living 1878.

Settled on Sec.5,Urbana Twp.,just north of present Urbana Cem. This land was later owned by Sam.Bechley (see his name) and Robt.Dean.

"Isham Cook built a cabin on his land in 1830, and returned to Ky.for his family. On the way back, in the dead of winter,he died near Sidney, in Lynn Grove,and this left his wife with four children, helpless.

"Jos.Davis(see his name)took the family and the uncoffined body to the site of the cabin,north of Urbana. Being in a hurry to get back home before night,he dumped the corpse on the ground and drove away. Some friendly Indians camped across the Salt Fork branch on the east,came to the rescue and prepared the body for burial in a roll of birch bark, then buried it near the cabin."

"Mr. and Mrs. Cook were among the first to be buried in Woodlawn Cem.,Urbana. Dr. L.W.Judy,supt. of this Cem.,removed the bodies of the Cooks from a spot several hundred yards north of the Cem.,in 1907, to the place where they now rest in Woodlawn.

"Their bodies had never been disturbed by those who bought their land. Mr. Cook's body ,or,rather, his skeleton,minus toes and fingers only,was found still wrapped in scraps of the birch bark."

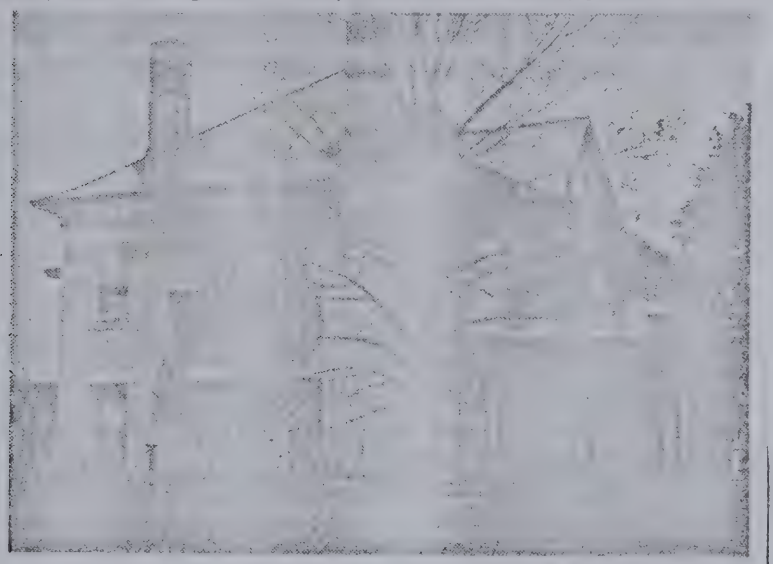
In the years immediately before he was elected President, Abraham Lincoln was a guest in many homes throughout the central part of Illinois. When he became a candidate for United States senator against Stephen A. Douglas it was natural that, while visiting these homes, he should be prevailed upon to speak a few words to the townspeople who usually gathered before the house where he was stopping as a guest. Mostly these talks were made from a front porch or from a second-floor balcony. As a result of these brief, informal speeches, the houses where they were made—that is, those which survive—are today objects of veneration to Lincoln devotees and historic landmarks in their communities.



From the second-floor balcony of this Danville house Abraham Lincoln delivered a brief address when he was a candidate for United States senator in 1858.

An outstanding house of this type in eastern Illinois, and one that is noteworthy in itself as the abode of a well-known pioneer of the region, is the Fithian residence on Gilbert street in Danville. A large boulder on the lawn in front of the house contains a historical marker bearing the words: "Abraham Lincoln delivered an impromptu address from the balcony of this house while a guest here in 1858. Placed by the Gov. Bradford Chapter, D. A. R., 1926."

Met by Large Crowd.

In the official state guidebook, compiled by the WPA writers' proj-milion River, Dr. Fithian attended the sick not only in Danville but in all sections of that part of the state, even caring for patients as far west as Bloomington and as far north as Chicago. On his distant calls he rode the lonely prairies on horseback, carrying with him enough tea for an occasional sip at a roadside resting-place.

As Danville grew, Dr. Fithian's practice grew and in time he began acquiring tracts of land in the county. He entered other fields—the mercantile business, banking, politics. He served one term as state senator and two terms as state representative. When railroads appeared, he was instrumental in getting several of the leading roads to pass through Danville and Vermilion County. The town of Fithian, west of Danville, is named after him.

Dr. Fithian died in 1890 at the age of 91. His house was subsequently owned and occupied by Charles Feldkamp, a leading confectioner of Danville. For more than 50 years the Feldkamp family has lived here and during this time a new roof was added, as well as a newer and larger front porch. But the ornamental, cast-iron balcony at the south end remains as it was when Lincoln stood on it 84 years ago and addressed the crowd before the house. And among the listeners in that crowd was Mrs. Feldkamp's mother, Mrs. Bernard Lamcool, an early resident of Danville.

street in Danville. A large boulder on the lawn in front of the house contains a historical marker bearing the words: "Abraham Lincoln delivered an impromptu address from the balcony of this house while a guest here in 1858. Placed by the Gov. Bradford Chapter, D. A. R., 1926."

Met by Large Crowd.

In the official state guidebook, compiled by the WPA writers' project, we read: "On Sept. 21, 1858, a large crowd met Lincoln at the railroad depot and escorted him to Dr. Fithian's home. Lincoln expressed his thanks for the reception in a brief speech delivered from the balcony at the south side of the house, as attested by a Lincoln memorial boulder on the lawn." It was natural for a large crowd to collect before the Fithian house that day for Lincoln was then in the midst of his seven joint debates with Douglas—debates which put him on the road to the presidency.

In this two-story brick house, which has been somewhat remodeled since it was first built, lived Dr. William Fithian, one of the first settlers of Danville and a pioneer physician in that part of Illinois. He was a close friend of Lincoln. In fact, the man who became a world figure, an American immortal, served as Dr. Fithian's attorney for a number of years, representing him in several legal cases and advising him as a counselor and mentor. The two maintained their close friendship even after Lincoln left Illinois and became president of the United States.

When the Civil War broke out, President Lincoln, busy as he was, did not forget his friend in Danville. He pointed him provost marshall of what was then the 7th congressional district, a district embracing most of the east-central part of the state. Dr. Fithian served honorably and competently in this capacity. After the war, he retired to his Gilbert street home, being then in his 60s, and there held forth as one of the leading citizens of Danville.

Built Home in 30's.

From available data, Dr. Fithian built his house some time in the 30's. It is of record that he first came to Danville in 1830. This was only a few years after Dan Beckwith, trader at a salt works on the Vermilion River, donated a large tract of land east of the works for the establishment of a county seat —a county seat which became the city of Danville. When Dr. Fithian arrived, Danville was nothing more than a settlement of frame and log houses, with a few grist mills and general stores serving the community.

In addition to his association with Lincoln and the early history of Illinois, Dr. Fithian enjoys another distinction. He is recorded as being the first white child born in Cincinnati, Ohio. His natal day was April 7, 1799. When William Fithian was 13, he served in the "home guard" during the War of 1812. Upon reaching maturity, he set out for himself, came west in Indiana, and finally settled at Danville.

County's Medical History Start

The story is told of Dr. Winston Somers and it is but one illustration of what was often required of old-time country doctors. This doctor was compelled to amputate a leg at once to save the life of a patient and, lacking the proper surgical instruments, he used a common hand-saw. The operation was successful. All this took place in the 1840's and Dr. Somers was one of Champaign county's first doctors.

The medical history of Champaign county began only a decade before Dr. Somers' unique operation. A certain Dr. T. Fulkerson located at the head of the Big Grove settlement, five miles north of Urbana, in 1830. His arrival was almost simultaneous with the Asiatic cholera at Big Grove in 1834, which left the pioneers of the county terrorized.

Dr. Fulkerson is chiefly known to fame as the defendant in a suit brought by county officials to collect two dollars in default of work on public roads. Records show that he paid the judgment obtained and soon after left the county. Being the only doctor in the county he no doubt found it difficult to work on the roads in addition to his routine work.

MANY ALLOWANCES have to be made for the practitioner of medicine on the frontier. He was confronted with a variety of handicaps as is shown by Dr. Somers' and Dr. Fulkerson's story. Many doctors began practise with inadequate training as medical schools were few and inaccessible to most students. Even after a man was ready to practise he found it a slow, tedious job to obtain the needed medicine and supplies from the cities.

While the early doctors of the county became resourceful men, they also were rather narrow-minded because of their lack of contact with medical literature and other men of the field. The early 1850's witnessed quite an accession to the ranks of the medical profession in Urbana and Cham-

Courier 7/30

About Town

Among the visitors here this week for the Champaign county fair is W. T. Harvey of Peoria, a resident of Urbana for some 65 years, but who moved away some 17 or 18 years ago. Mr. Harvey reports that the fair offers "the best harness racing I ever saw," and an enjoyable time generally.

His father, Moses D. Harvey, came to Urbana in 1818 and established the first meat market in either city. Champaign residents—at that time a dozen or two families—bought meat from the elder Harvey's wagon when it made the rounds. An old account book shows that butcher Harvey at one time bought 997 pounds of pork for $20. Mr. Harvey's father and his uncle built Urbana's first jail, out of logs, just off Broadway.

Mr. Harvey has been visiting his son, Clyde L. Harvey, 1002 East Washington, Urbana, and his brother-in-law, W. S. Buchanan, 412 West Nevada street.

One incident recorded by Mr. Harvey's father may be an addition to the Lincoln-lore of Champaign-Urbana. The notation, in the elder Harvey's handwriting, reads: "May 12, '51 — Seen Abe Lincoln run a foot race with Samuel Waters from Main street on Walnut street in front of courthouse. Abe beat." The race started at the courthouse and ended at the Pennsylvania hotel, long since gone. 1943

Reader Questions Reference to 1818 43

To the editor,

Sir: The Courier of July 30, page 3 top of col.—"About Town" item, is not exactly a fabrication but is very inaccurate.

I have a small book—'Pioneers of Champaign Co.," 10x6½ in., 124 pages, given me by Judge Cunningham. It has a cut and sketch of Moses D. Harvey, says he came to Urbana October 1839. Also has a picture and sketch of his eldest son, born 1845, Rufus T. We all know there was no Champaign-Urbana in 1818, only the deer ("and the antelope") roamed. You must all be newcomers in the office to let the item pass. Joseph Kelley of Tavern farm came in 1849. The I. C. only carried passengers as far as Kankakee in October 1853, and to West Urbana (-Champaign) November 1854.

I am not asking you to correct item but you should know. This book compiled by Lou McLean and Milt Matthews in 1886.

"Saint" Joseph Kelley kept the tavern until 1864, "and is now retired to his farm in Harwood Township," this of 1886.

Very truly,

ANNA SILVER.

Editor's note—The item referred to said Moses D. Harvey came to Urbana in 1818. The Courier bows to the 'Pioneers of Champaign County' as an authority.

HAYS, Capt. WILLIAM. Fa. b.9/8,1765. Urbana. 1838.
"He was a soldier in the Revolutionary War."
This is the legible inscription on the old stone in Clements' graveyard, 5 mi. N.E. of Urbana.
The Hays stone is surrounded by the Brownfields, Jacksons, and the McGills. It stands on the highest point in the graveyard,and has an unfurled flag with 13 stars in it carved in the upper left-hand corner.
Capt. Hays settled at Goben's Grove,1838,north of Urbana,in Somer Twp. Capt.Hays d. 1/2,1852,on the old Isaac Albright farm near the Somers schl. house.
There is no Gov't marker for his Revolutionary service.
There is a small stone at the foot of Capt.Hays' grave, with this inscription;"Moses,son of T.C.and S.A.Hays,b.1838;d.1/26,1852." There is some discrepancy here,because T.C.Hays above was marr.to S.A.Dunn in 1844.

One of the original 111 taxpayers of the Co.,1833.
"Served in the Black Hawk War. He wore no special uniform. Carried a rifle,gun,two horse pistols,and a sword. Rations included flour,meat,sugar,coffee,and whiskey."
The first M.E.Campmeeting in the Co. was held in 1839 at Haptonstall's Mill,at the southern end of the Big Grove. Jake Heater was forced,greatly against his will,to offer up what later became a famous,maiden prayer. With the very greatest reluctance he finally got to his knees and shouted in a tremendous voice, urging God to "rim-rake and center-shake the Devil's Kingdom", whatever that might mean.
His mother, a brother,and a sister, all died within a few days of each other,of Asiatic cholera, in 1834.

A juror in the famous Weaver-Hiltebran murder case.

"Entered the first land in Sadorus Twp., and laid out Sadorus Grove, on Sec.1, Sad.Twp., 1824, and paid for it in gold, at Vandalia, where the land office was located. Owned 1000 A. of land at Sadorus, and built a mill there, in 1830.

"Employed a private tutor, Jas. Outen, for his boys, as it was cheaper than sending them off to school. Hauled lumber 110 mi. from Attica, Ind., 1837, to build his frame house; and was the first permanent white settler in the County.

"It was ten years before he had any neighbors other than Indians. Lived among the Kickapoos, the Pottawatomies, and the Delawares. The main camping grounds for Indians were on the Bader farm, a mile north of his cabin. After the Black Hawk War no more Indians were seen around Sadorus.

"He once heard of a settler who pitched his tent 18 mi. below him on the Kaskaskia River, so he took his boys and went out to call upon him. Upon meeting the stranger, he asked him why he had so insolently crowded into the Sadorus 'backyard' without permission. However, he sold the white man a strip of land before he returned home that morning.

"A huge 20 ton boulder, relic of the glacial era, was found recently at the Old Sugar Camp, on the Sadorus land. It was unearthed, and moved to a suitable site south of Sadorus, and dedicated, with appropriate ceremonies, on Oct.30,1932---to Henry Sadorus, FIRST PERMANENT WHITE SETTLER OF THE COMMUNITY."

Champaign News-Gazette 2/11/1950 THE NEWS

HOMER SISTERS, 94, 91, HAVE 123 DESCENDANTS

By MRS. EDNA LEWIS
News-Gazette Staff Correspondent

HOMER, Feb. 11—(BSC)—Saturday marked the 94th birthday anniversary of Homer's oldest resident, Mrs. Sarah Yeazel. On April 24, Mrs. Ellen Tibbetts, sister of Mrs. Yeazel, will be 92.

Between the two of them, they have 123 direct descendants.

Mrs. Yeazel was honored at a dinner Sunday at her home, with her children and their companions as her guests. A son, Troy, and his son, Lester, arrived Thursday afternoon from Rockwell City, Iowa, to be with her on her anniversary.

The "girls" were born in Stark county, Ohio, but moved to Green county, Indiana, with their parents, William and Sarah Hawkins Cessna, in 1860. The mother died four years later and when the father remarried in 1865, they moved to Illinois, settling on a farm near Homer.

Everyone worked then to help make a living and Sarah and Ellen worked in the fields too. They cut shocks of fodder and carried them into the barn for feed for livestock and helped with other farm chores.

Double Wedding

On Independence day in 1877, the sisters became brides in a double ceremony. Before Reverend Brooks, a Methodist minister in Danville, Sarah became the bride of A. Wallace Yeazel, and Ellen, the bride of Marion Tibbetts. They had made the 20-mile trip in a spring wagon and dressed in their best worsted dresses, fully lined.

Mr. Yeazel, who died eight years ago, was a native of Old Homer and born in the tavern on the Salt Fork. That was before the town was moved to its present location on the Wabash railroad, one and one half miles south of the Salt Fork. The tavern was moved on skids (as were the other buildings in the little settlement) pulled by oxen to the present location of Benner's garage on First and East street. Slabs from the water wheel at the mill on the Salt Fork were used as sidewalks in the new town.

Both women knew hard work in raising their families on farms in this vicinity. Mr. Tibbetts died in 1910. For the past eight years Mrs. Tibbetts has lived with her daughter, Mrs. Amanda Whole, contentedly watching the world go by from her favorite chair at the window.

Both women knew hard work in raising their families on farms in this vicinity. Mr. Tibbetts died in 1910. For the past eight years Mrs. Tibbetts has lived with her daughter, Mrs. Amanda Whole, contentedly watching the world go by from her favorite chair at the window.

Lives Alone

Mrs. Yeazel, however, still lives alone in her house on West First street. She does her own housework and is very particular in her house and her own personal appearance. She proudly exhibits her late husband's handiwork, hand carved replicas of Bibles, mugs, stemmed glasses of walnut, tiny churns, rolling pins, etc. Each of the children and grandchildren have whittled articles to remember the father and grandfather, who made that his hobby.

Mrs. Yeazel has five daughters and two sons living—Mrs. Bowman Clester, Fairmount; Mrs. Bertha Hartley, Decatur; Mrs. James Stayton, Ogden; Mrs. William Johnson and Mrs. Charles Hillard, Homer; Rolla Yeazel, Fairmount, and Troy, Rockwell City, Iowa. There are 18 grandchildren, 41 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren. A son, Sigel, died two years ago.

Mrs. Tibbetts, the only Civil war veteran's widow in this community, has four daughters and
